

Graph Neural Networks for Scientific Collaboration Prediction

Authors: M. Rao, S. Nair, P. Thomas

Abstract

This sample paper explores graph neural networks for predicting potential scientific collaborations using researcher profiles, publication history, institutional affiliations, and existing collaboration patterns.

Publication Information

|                  |                                  |
|------------------|----------------------------------|
| Journal / Venue  | Journal of Computational Science |
| Publication Year | 2025                             |
| Publication Type | Journal                          |
| Status           | Published                        |
| DOI              | 10.0000/scna/2025.001            |
| Citation Count   | 12                               |

Sample/test publication generated for use in the Scientific Collaboration Network Analyzer database. This is not a real scholarly publication.